

MEASURING CORRUPTION TO TRIGGER ACTION AND ASSESS IMPACT

Tuesday 12 December (1:30-3:00 PM Eastern Time)

Room Seattle, A302, and online: <https://tinyurl.com/82n4sz2k>

HIGH-LEVEL SEGMENT

Chair: Carlo Nordio, Minister of Justice, Italy

Ghada Waly, UNODC Executive Director

Samuel Kobina Annim, Government Statistician, Ghana

Arturo Herrera Gutierrez, Global Director, Governance Global Practice, The World Bank

Prince Adeyemi Adeniran, Statistician General of the Federation/CEO, National Bureau of Statistics, Nigeria

UNODC
United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime

Conference of the States
Parties to the United Nations
Convention against Corruption
11-15 December 2023 • Atlanta, United States

EXPERT PRESENTATIONS

Chair: Giovanni Tartaglia, Legal Advisor, Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation

The UNODC Statistical framework to measure corruption developed by UNODC

Angela Me, Director of Research, UNODC

Integrity in Action

Borislav Vukasinovic, Deputy Director, Agency for Prevention of Corruption of Montenegro

Use of different data sources to measure corruption in Mexico

Rocio Stefany Olmos, Executive Director for the National Subsystem of Governance, Crime and Justice Statistics, Mexico

The Methodology for measuring the effects of the Law on Corruption Prevention

Marijana Obradovic, Head of the Unit for Monitoring and Evaluation National Strategy Documents, Agency for Prevention of Corruption, Serbia

Measuring corruption risks- OECD's public integrity indicators

Jesper Johnsen, Deputy Head of Division, Public Sector Integrity, Directorate for Public Governance, OECD

Why public data transparency matters today

Benjamin Schmidt, Programme Officer, Center for International Private Enterprise

Development of Transparency and Integrity Index (TII) as a tool for the measurement of public sector corruption

Umar Yakubu, Executive Director, Center for Fiscal Transparency, Nigeria

Challenges in the implementation of anti-corruption policies in the private sector in Chile

Sebastián Galleguillos, Youth Representative - International Sociological Association

